Whether you need long-term employees or IT and engineering staff for a specific project, Formare provides expert-level teams from a wide range of technical disciplines. Our associates can support your project at all levels, from programming to project management, implementation to wrap-up. They'll help you achieve your immediate goals and transfer valuable knowledge to your in-house team.

Four options for adding staff to your organization, including:

1. Term-specific: when you need a specific expert for a set period of time, to help with a project or unexpected increase in workload
2. Indefinite term: when you've chosen not to add permanent employees and instead want to bring in contract professionals to fulfill long-term needs
3. Contract to perm: when you and potential employees want to ensure your relationship is a good fit before committing to permanent employment; "try before you buy"
4. Permanent placement: Formare will find the right employee for your organization while you focus on your business
